

Panel 9: Energy Efficiency Policy: U.S. & Beyond (Room: NAUTILUS)

PANEL LEADERS: Maddie Koewler, NASEO and Maggie Molina, NEEP

| DATE            | SESSION                                                                                                                    | TITLE                                                                                                                             | LEAD AUTHOR, ORGANIZATION                                       |
|-----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Mon 8/5  | Session 18:30 - 10:00 amAppliance Standards:New Twists on aClassic Policy                | It's Flex Time: Using Standards for Demand-flexible Appliances to Deliver Peak Load and CO2 Reductions                     | Vivian Cox,CLASP                                            |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Healthy Air Standards: An Emerging Policy for Zero-Emission Buildings                                                      | Emily Levin,NESCAUM                                         |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Appliance Standards, Equity, and Climate Change—HVAC Opportunities                                                         | Suzanne Foster Porter,Kannah Consulting                     |
|                 | Session 210:30 am - 12:00 pmMobilizing the Cash forBuilding Efficiency &Decarbonization  | Will Banks Start Putting Their Money Where Their Properties Are?                                                           | Veronique Bugnion,ClearlyEnergy                             |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Reducing Emissions and Protecting Low-Income Renters in Affordable Housing                                                 | Laura Abernathy,National Housing Trust                      |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | How Can Efficiency Programs Leverage $20 Billion in Financing from EPA's Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund?                   | Christopher Kramer                                              |
| Tues 8/6 | Session 18:30 - 10:00 amCommunities at theCenter of BuildingPerformanceStandards     | Overcoming barriers to BPS: A collaborative, grassroots approach to building performance standards                         | Amanda Webb,University of Cincinnati                        |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Equitable Decarbonization: Prioritizing Frontline Communities for Building Performance Standard Technical Support Programs | Nicole Ballinger,City of Seattle                            |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Community-based prioritization of commercial buildings for equitable implementation of building performance standards      | Isabel Langlois-Romero,National Renewable Energy Laboratory |
|                 | Session 210:30 am - 12:00 pmUS and Global PolicyNews on BuildingPerformanceStandards | The EU Energy Performance of Buildings Directive - key regulation for a carbon-neutral building stock by 2050              | Andreas Hermelink,Guidehouse Germany                        |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Lessons from the Front: Implementing Building Performance Standards on the Ground                                          | Marshall Codes,Institute for Market Transformation          |
|                 |                                                                                                                            | Updating Minnesota's SB 2030 Program: Paving the Way for Net-Zero                                                          | Pat Smith,Center for Sustainable Building Research          |

Panel 9: Energy Efficiency Policy: U.S. & Beyond (Room: NAUTILUS)

PANEL LEADERS: Maddie Koewler, NASEO and Maggie Molina, NEEP

| DATE      | SESSION                                                                                                                                                 | TITLE                                                                                                                                                  | LEAD AUTHOR, ORGANIZATION                                |
|-----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Wed 8/7   | Session 18:30 - 10:00 amOvercoming Disagreements in Building Decarbonization Policies                                         | Translating Potential into Performance: Assessing Compliance Costs and Policy Improvements to Maximize Building Performance Standards           | Faith DeBolt,SBW Consulting                          |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Navigating Multilevel Struggles for Authority Over Building Decarbonization Policy: Insights from Canada                                        | Lisa Hasan,Universite de Montreal                    |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Equitable Building Decarbonization Options in a Changing Legal Landscape                                                                        | Jamie Long,Public Health Law Center                  |
|           | Session 210:30 am - 12:00 pmCommunities Leading Policy Action - Stories from Across the World                                 | Addressing Energy Hardship By Putting Communities at the Center - Comparative Approaches in Aotearoa New Zealand, the United States, and Canada | Alice Rosenberg,Consortium for Energy Efficiency     |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | NO CLIMATE, NO EQUITY, NO DEAL 20 min film screening (no paper)                                                                                 | Delmar Gillus,Elevate Energy                         |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Community Vision Driving Policy Progress (no paper)                                                                                             | Sydney Roberts, Southeast Energy Efficiency Alliance     |
| Thurs 8/8 | Session 18:30 - 10:00 amPrioritizing Resident Outcomes in Affordable Multifamily Housing Policies                             | Power on the Block: Empowering Residents to Impact Community Change Through Electrification and Decarbonization                                 | Madeleine McCullough,National Housing Trust          |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Using Building-Level Utility Data to Deliver Equitable Energy Efficiency Programs in Multifamily Buildings                                      | Luke Miller,Northeast Energy Efficiency Partnerships |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Keeping up with the Light Bill: Renter Energy Insecurity Trends and Policy Implications                                                         | Stefen Samarripas,ACEEE                              |
|           | Session 210:30 am - 12:00 pmBeyond IRA: Tackling Long-lasting Policies for Equitable Residential Efficiency & Electrification | We're all in this together: Progressive rate structures can balance signals for energy efficiency, electrification, and load flexibility.       | Sylvie Ashford,The Utility Reform Network            |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Tenant Protections in Building Decarbonization Policy                                                                                           | Chelsea Kirk,Strategic Actions for a Just Economy    |
|           |                                                                                                                                                         | Going Mainstream with Home Energy Ratings by Leveraging Site-Specific Data in California                                                        | Will Vicent,California Energy Commission             |

Panel 9: Energy Efficiency Policy: U.S. & Beyond (Room: NAUTILUS)

PANEL LEADERS: Maddie Koewler, NASEO and Maggie Molina, NEEP

| DATE           | SESSION                                                                          | TITLE                                                                                                                      | LEAD AUTHOR, ORGANIZATION                                  |
|----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| Fri 8/9 | Session 18:30 - 10:00 am                                       | Should Natural Gas Energy Efficiency Incentives be Phased Out?                                                      | Brett Feldman,Rhode Island Energy                      |
|                | Menu of Options for Policymakers to Meet Gas Decarbonization Goals               | Natural Gas End Use Decarbonization: What we Know so Far                                                            | Erica Larson,ICF                                       |
|                |                                                                                  | Non-Pipeline Alternatives: A Regulatory Framework and Case Studies                                                  | Sean Murphy,Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory      |
|                | Session 210:30 am - 12:00 pm                                   | Doing the Right Thing Now will Eventually Pay Off. Cost-Effective &amp; Equitable Building Decarbonization Requires | Mohit Chhabra,Natural Resources Defense Council        |
|                | Data for Policymakers: Will Efficiency and Electrification be Accessible to All? | Disruptive Planning and Rethinking Rate Design                                                                      | Carlos Martin,Harvard Joint Center for Housing Studies |
|                |                                                                                  | The Remodeling Industry and Energy Retrofits: Capacity and Awareness for Change                                     | Carlos Martin,Harvard Joint Center for Housing Studies |
|                |                                                                                  | Balancing Equity and Climate Objectives: Dealing with the Trade-Offs                                                | Ingo Bensch                                                |